

School Turnaround is a leadership-development methodology that helps principals, teachers, and students immediately improve academic achievement. Since 2001, School Turnaround has turned around over 300 schools in more than 70 school districts around the country.

School Turnaround is a hard-hitting intervention designed to reverse decline in public and charter schools in as little as one year. In contrast to gentle change programs that seek to change the culture, methods, and procedures of schools, School Turnaround believes that kids should only be in first grade once.
